Thank you for being a part of the Chancellor's visit with Lawson State. Chancellor Bradley Byrne expressed that the College had "a good feel about it." He had the opportunity to meet and greet several of you and visit some of our instructional programs on both campuses. Also, several of you and your students along with staff attended the activities on one or both campuses to hear Chancellor Byrne's presentation on the direction of the two-year colleges and the three focus areas of the System's mission - Academic and Technical Programs, Adult Education, and Workforce Development.

We are glad that you were a part of what President Ward called a "historical day for Lawson State" and a "learning opportunity" for our students. Thank you to all entities of the College for your preparation prior to and during the special visit. Please know that the things that you do only a daily basis made this visit very easy. If you were in attendance at either activity, please know that we do appreciate your commitment to continued support of the College. My final thanks are to the Planning Committee members, staff, faculty, and students who assisted us in getting this accomplished. No names will be called here because so many of you did what was expected of you and things fell right in place.

Again, we appreciate your commitment and support and cannot thank you enough for making this day a special one.

Bruce Crawford, Ph.D.
